KundenrezensionenHilfreichste Kundenrezensionen1 von 1 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. Smart confessionsVon SkatersallyEmma Carter is 31 years old and lives in New York. Time to marry, she thinks. Even her mother is going to do it for the third time. But suddenly her boyfriend Derrick dumped her after two years relationship for his own career in LA. For making it worse, her colleague Rebecca is planning her wedding, too. So the promotion at Bridals Best seems to be the most important thing of her current life. Confession: maybe marriage is just wearing a nice dress.Suddenly Derrick called her at Memorials Day. So he hasnt forgot his former girlfriend, Emma thought. But maybe hes just been lonely on a public holiday, Alyssa assumed. A-lyssa and Jade are her best friends and both of them have their own problems to choose Mr Right. Although Emma is still thinking at Derrick, she met a gorgeous guy, who is also a writer. He appears to be the one, who can calm all wounds. But in a short time there are the same problems and he also dumped her. Confession: sometimes you have trouble only a good hair cut can cure. There are fourteen chapters to follow Emma through a bad time, but she finally makes some smart confessions. Linda Curnyn describes the situation beginning with the break-up until the start of a new step in Emmas life. The story is very sensitive and lively in the style of Helen Fielding or Sophie Kinsella. It is a nice entertainment not only for women with a sick heart.

And that extra ten pounds of "relationship flab" she acquired while falling in love with a commitment-phobe has just put her out of the running for new romance so she thinks. But before Emma can get on with her life, she's got to face a few startling truths about being single in New York City. Confession #5: Marriage suddenly seems like a social disease. Even the latest bride in my family my mother has put me to work in the service of her wedding day. What about us non-brides-to-be? Working in the warped little world of wedding planning has only led me to one conclusion: If you don't get married in this world, you get nothing. Once, in an editorial meeting, I jokingly suggested that a woman should get a bridal shower when she turns thirty, wedding or not. Everyone looked at me as if I were some kind of nut. I am 31 years old; am I not entitled to free Calphalon yet? Who ever thought that baring your soul could be this good? Kurzbeschreibung Ex-Girlfriend Emma Carter has a lot on her mind.
