and Mayhem Von Lydia Bull Jessica Fletcher is a woman mystery writer. In her own time of promoting her own book helps solve a crime. She always gets the criminals which the police love and hate. The police hate it because Jessica always annoys them with questions they don't know. Martinis and Mayhem was a thrilling and adventurous book. It involves Jessica going to a prison to teach inmates how to keep a diary. Once she gets back from the prison and looks in her bag there is a diary. The diary is one of the inmates who is innocent. It gives helpful hints and information other characters wouldn't tell her. She has three other people that give little bits of information. One of which is a Scotland Yard agent who's name is George Sutherland. He was trying to prove the inmate was innocent from the begging. He helps Jessica go to different Jessica also risks her own life searching for a clue. Not only with Jessica Fletcher cracking the case, but she describes many places with lots of descriptive words which make you feel like you were there. Jessica Fletcher does this in many books like in Manhattans and Murder she describes New York like that. Jessica gives an inside look on San Francisco which makes people want to visit there and see all the places she was talking about.
